The judge was 55 years old on November 20 last.

Fifteen months ago Judge Landis accepted the place of baseball high commissioner at an annual salary of $50,000. Accepts Sands' Offer of Light On Taylor Case

LOS ANGELES, Cal, Feb. 18—Just as the William Desmond Taylor murder was about to be placed in the classification of "unsolved mysteries," a fresh maze of developments today directed the spotlight once more on the investigation

Edward F. Sands, former secretary-valet of the slain film director, assumed the center of the investigation through a mysterious letter to District Attorney Woolwine in which he asserted his innocence and declared he could place responsibility for the murder.

"I did not murder Taylor, but I know who did it," said the letter made public by Woolwine "I can untangle the murder mystery for you"

And in response the prosecutor immediately published a promise of immunity from prosecution on an old embezzlement charge Sands will give himself up, prove that he is innocent of the Taylor murder and give aid in determining who killed the film director

The letter declared Sands was in Los Angeles

"The purported letter from Sands may and may not be genuine," said District Attorney Woolwine today

"My reply through the public press will serve to test its authenticity. I have no means of knowing whether it is a hoax, but I desire to leave no clue unfollowed and no lead uninvestigated"

Captain of detectives David L Adams, who has held throughout the investigation that Sands holds the key to the murder, declared today that every effort will be made to locate Sands here, but he was inclined to believe that if the

MOTHER JONES APPEALS FOR UNION PEACE

John L. Lewis Wins Out Over Alexander Howat at Miners' Convention

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 18 — "Mother" Jones interrupted a tumultuous demonstration by supporters of Alexander Howat against John Lewis and other officials of the United Mine Workers in the coal miners convention today.

Appearing at a moment when charges of "padding the list" were being hurled across the hall as the absentee vote was being called in the test of strength between Lewis and Howat, the aged woman who for more than a half a century has been a guiding light in labor movements, told the miners to quit fighting among themselves.

"The enemy is boring from within," she said, "and you are putting into the hands of the enemy the weapons to fight you."

The narrow margin of ninety-three votes by which John L. Lewis has been unofficially proclaimed victor over Alexander Howat in a test of administration and insurgent strength on the floor of the miners convention may be increased considerably today when an opportunity is given delegates to cast the 150 votes recorded as "absent" at yesterday's session.

Throughout last night a last ditch fight was staged with victory and defeat in the offering. The Lewis forces marshalled their complete strength for a roundup of the 150 votes, realizing that a substantial number were needed to make their victory of yesterday complete. "Get one hundred" was the slogan of the Lewis banders as they started early and kept in motion until late, a drive that has all appearance of success

The Howat crowd was not inactive There was just the bare possibility of turning a narrow defeat into victory and with the prize big and the opportunities unlimited, they confined their final efforts on almost complete roundup of the absent voters

Lewis regards the fight as over Howat and Farrington, under the surface, take a similar view. Lewis sees in the results a vindication of his administration but opponents regard it as the beginning of the end of the reign of Lewis.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE NEWBURG ASYLUM

Dr. H. S. McAyeal, State Director of Public Welfare, has declared that the Cleveland state hospital for the insane, at Newburg, is unfit for use and ought to be abolished.

Anyone who has visited the institution will agree either that it should be abolished or appropriations should be made for its repair and for new buildings. Anyone who visits the state institutions cannot help being impressed that money has not always been wisely appropriated, nor wisely expended when appropriated. One is also impressed that there is discrimination made against certain institutions, possibly because of their location.

The administration of one party will, for certain reasons, favor some institutions, while they will discriminate against others, and when this has proceeded for a period of years the institutions so discriminated against are run down, and the money invested in them is virtually lost.

There is a policy too for appropriating money for repairs which does not complete the repairs, and the uncompleted part of a building will remain open to the weather, so that a portion of the money is wasted, and additional money must be used to make up for the loss, when the final amount is distributed.

We have visited many of the state institutions. We were impressed with the madequacy and the unfitness of the Cleveland asylum for use. This is due to the failure to appropriate for it for many years. The unfortunate part of the situation in Cleveland is that this ground and buildings would revert back to the heirs of the original donor to the state, if it were abandoned by the state, or if an attempt were made to dispose of it for other uses.

Dr. McAyeal suggests that it might be used as a receiving station. But it is a very expensive property to use for any such purpose. Why should the state not do with it as business men would do under similar circumstances?

There are slightly over a hundred acres of this property lying within the city of Cleveland. It is built up all around it. It is well situated and the land is very valuable, and many of the buildings with small expense, could be put in good condition. The money which could be obtained from the sale of that property could buy, instead of one hundred acres, fifteen hundred or eighteen hundred acres of land out in Portage, or some other county, and erect buildings thereon capable of housing many more than are now being housed in the buildings on the present property, with considerable money to spare.

We believe that if we were heirs of the one who had donated this property to the state, for hospital purposes, we would be glad, in return of this property to us, to present the state with that which is more valuable for its purposes, and buildings that would be adequate for the state use, and we would have enough left in value, after we had done this, for a small fortune for ourselves.

Why should this not be done?

TIMBERMAN FOUND GUILTY

The verdict of the jury in finding C. C. Timberman, former Safety Director of Lorain, guilty of bribery, begins to clarify a number of things which happened in the city of Lorain.

Mr. Timberman was appointed Safety Director, practically an unknown man in Lorain, and law violations were numerous, and the charge was made that the city administration was in league with the law violators. Finally Timberman, the Safety Director, was indicted and disappeared from the city. He was found later and brought back for trial.

On the stand he admitted receiving large quantities of money. He did not know where it came from, so he said, but he said it was sent him for the purpose of the prosecution of the King case, King being the former Chief of Police.

Evidence was presented to the effect that those who wanted protection from the law had paid Timberman, as Safety Director, for such protection.

As far as we know, the mayor of Lorain was not connected with this crime, of which Timberman was found guilty. The rumors however, and the general conditions at Lorain, were such, prior to the indictment of Timberman, to indicate that Timberman was defending the criminals, and it was very clear that for some reason or other he was refusing to clean up the city, and was fighting with ex-Chief King, who in turn was trying to prosecute law violators.

All of this was called to the attention of the mayor of Lorain and he steadfastly refused to discharge Timberman. This verdict, by the jury, vindicates the people of Lorain, as against the mayor at that time.

The wheels of justice grind slowly, but they do

KOMICAL TELEGRAMS

By JIM ARMITAGE, Himself

I've always "watched my step" about using ladies names in this column. The few times I have used them I was sure would be O. K. Their husband generally gives his consent. Now a lady phones and calls me for mentioning her husband's name. Well, you'll admit it handicaps me. Most married men have wives.

There was an article in the paper the other night about the thick skinned oranges they grow in Florida. It didn't say anything about peaches, but—

If there's anything to that old adage 'Laugh and grow fat' it's no wonder there's so many light weights.'

That's one thing I like about a Ford, they haint no chance of a flivver's wife calling you up and calling you down.

And the good old Democratic party and Mayor Jones and John Halpin and the Banks and the fellow that a little ad won't hurt—They can come to the rescue.

I'm not going to use 'The Famous" anymore—I still go in there to get shaved.

And if I mention "Burke's" name, I'll probably get fired.

I used to 'kid" Jimmie Simpson quite a lot, but now he's a director in a bank—I might want to make a touch.

I can still "commit murder" with Phillips—I tried to Thursday night.

And Solly Sax won't care, he wants everyone to know he's in the insurance business.

I hope Ford Loomis hurries back from California—He'll stand without hitchin'.

I might try Miss Ferne, of the Flower Shop—If anything happens she'd at least send flowers.

But if the joke is on the other fellow—Well, of course that's different.

Johnnie Gray is still with me, but not so sure about Bill Murray.

Happy Harrington didn't call me up—He don't know my number.

I guess Dennis Seward does, he sent a fellow upto the shop to tell me to put it up.

But if you do call me up Please tell me who you are and I'll leave you A—LONE.

Ask George Chamberlain what Lincoln said to Salmon. Colby is about the only one who knows.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

ELECTRIC SERVICE

Dear Sir:

Is it not possible to muster the forces of several good organizations in the county together with the city councils the Chambers of Commerce etc. and all together we might possibly persuad the officials of the Green Line to use a little more intelligence in the [illegible] schedules.

It seems to me pure folly to have the Oberlin-Wellington car leave the Elyria waiting room just 38 seconds before the Lorain passengers can reach it. This is the usual practice.

The insult and inconvenience would be less tantalising if they would leave one-half minute earlier so that the incoming passengers would not make the always unsuccessful effort of trying to catch it on the run.

Then at Wellington the schedule is so arranged that passengers for the Big Four trains must always wait in Wellington over two hours. Some one must have studied many an hour to arrange it as they have to give the worst possible service.

There is a big area served by this Green Line and the saving of time and money to all who travel by the Big Four road is a sum worth while when you consider that because of the present bonehead schedule all this travel must go via Cleveland or waste hours in a dingy waiting room at Wellington. The Oberlin college traffic alone would justify the change, but in addition the Green Line could put into their pockets a very substantial sum from those who now must either go via Cleveland or must be taken to the train by automobile. In my humble judgment a little attention to these details might easily turn the balance from a money losing to a winning proposition. A. K. H.

Her sister, Alice Pettigrew, is managing her campaign and handling the publicity. Miss Pettigrew includes in her campaign platform a plank against the "blue laws." WHEN 85c SHOULD HAVE BEEN 58c

The buyers of quality food stuffs commensurate with the prices asked were subjected to a severe shock when reading the advertisement of The Lincoln Stores, which appeared in last night's Chronicle-Telegram. As always their custom and policy and this fact best evinced by the large volume of business carried on at The Lincoln Store, this leading grocery always advertises one very special item for Saturday selling and when reading their advertisement the item, in prominent display, offered ten pounds of sugar for 85 cents. This was an error, made by The Chronicle-Telegram and the item should have read "TEN POUNDS OF SUGAR FOR 58 CENTS." Patrons trading at the Lincoln Stores recognized immediately that an error had been made.

STORK RUSE HELPS MOONSHINERS, LOOSE TONGUE BRINGS ARREST

CHARLESTON, W Va., Feb 1 The story of how a fake case of the stork cheated the state prohibition forces and how the long loose tongue of a woman finally got her husband into jail was recounted today by Colonel Jackson Arnold, head of the state prohibitionary forces.

A farm at Norton W Va., was doing a fine business in moonshining. As state police surrounded his home for a raid the man placed his still, a simple stock of hooch and his wife in bed.

Then expecting a visit from the state police the man whispered to Captain W W White, in charge of the police force who conducted the raid.

Officers tiptoed about the house as the mother-to-be groaned in the bed. They left empty handed.

Next day the man's wife thought the story was too good to keep. With neighbors she had a good laugh over the occurrence. The second story reached police headquarters. The husband is awaiting action of the courts for distilling moonshine.

Judge Landis

ary of $7,500 per year was deducted, leaving baseball to pay him an annual stipend of $42,500.

Fifteen months trial of the arduous proposition of holding down both his place on the bench and the baseball job has convinced the judge that it is too arduous.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—The resignation of Judge Landis from the federal bench at Chicago came as a distinct surprise to President Harding when the announcement of Landis' proposed retirement was made made to him at the White House by the International News Service. Landis' letter of resignation has not yet been received at the White House, but the belief was expressed by officials that the Chicago jurist's desire to give his entire time to organized baseball would be fulfilled by the prompt acceptance of the resignation by President Harding.

"I find there are not enough hours in the day to continue the function of both offices" was Judge Landis' way of putting it.

Judge Landis was appointed to the bench by President Roosevelt on March 28, 1905. In a little more than a month he would have completed seventeen years of service in the judiciary branch of the government. His vigorous methods and outspokenness made him an outstanding character almost a national institution.

Vigorous opposition to Judge Landis sprang up soon after he announced his acceptance of the position of baseball commissioner. A concerted movement apparently was launched to force him to retire either from the baseball job or the bench.

Largely through the instigation of Senator Dial, of South Carolina, and Representative Welty of Ohio, since retired, an attempt was made to bring impeachment proceedings against him in congress. The action in the house was started on the basis of his holding employment outside of his judicial capacity. Senator Dial took objection because of Judge Landis' leniency in the case of a 19 year old defaulting bank teller of Ottawa, Ill. Judge Landis released the youth on his own recognizance after learning of his meager salary and condemned bank officials for entrusting the handling of large sums to one so inadequately paid. Senator Dial vigorously criticized Landis for what he referred to as an abuse of his judicial prerogatives.

CHANGE OF LIFE WOMAN'S TRIAL

Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois. — "I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time, when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicines."—Mrs. EMMA CULVER, 705 E. 7th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

You may depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"A party got on board at Shanghai, bound for Manila," chattered a woman globe-trotter, "and I saw at once they were missionaries. Most of them wore the tag of an Episcopal order." The taos were Phi Beta Kappa keys, won in various colleges for superior scholarship. Score for the missionaries! Better luck next time to the tourist.

The man who speaks of failure in religion is usually speaking autobiographically, not historically. The principal trouble with these pessimists with a tear in their voice and despair in their eye is physical. Do they get the right things to eat? Do they ever play golf or volley ball or stroll through the Vanity Fair of Euclid Ave? Do fresh air and sunlight ever get a chance at them? Churches today have more spiritual power, more common sense, more will to pull together and more sturdy optimism than they ever had before. Pay no heed to these prophets and their weepy counsels. When you recall Carlyle's dismal ejaculations, recall his dyspepsia also.

Of the three Chinese delegates in attendance upon the recent Disarmament Conference at Washington, one is a professing Christian and the other two were educated in Christian institutions out of more than one hundred Chinese who were representing their country in various capacities at the Conference, twenty-eight are members of Christian churches and a large proportion of the remainder received their early education in missionary institutions.

"The uniform experience of the centuries shows that when Christians neglect attendance upon public worship, habits of private prayer decay and fellowship with God as a vital personal experience which is the one sufficient dynamic for noble living, is weakened." Here is a doctrine of "Auto-suggestion" that most of us will heartily commend. "Impress on your own mind," writes Dr. Horton, the English preacher, "by frequent meditation and repetition, especially in the moments of sleeping or waking, those truths of Christ, which your faith accepts. For example, "Jesus Christ came to save sinners, of whom I am chief." "Sin shall not have dominion over you." Or, more especially "It cannot be God's intention that I should be mastered by this bad habit; therefore it is not too strng for me. I can overcome it is powerless in the presence of his redeeming love." These and similar suggestions you can make to yourself, and the words, sinking into your mind below the level of consciousness, will do the work

The psychologist is content to call this strange unknown power which is ever working in us to sustain life, to heal disease, to affect the mind, to control action, the 'unconscious' It is, no doubt, unconscious to us. But action so intelligent so marvellous (even miraculous) must be conscious to some One. Many will not hesitate to identify this so-called Unconscious with the spirit of God, who to recognize that to this spirit Christ referred when he spoke of living in us," and so 'bringing forth fruit.'"

Among the groups organized under the leadership of Jesus and called what is popularly known as Christian work, the Salvation Army has taken a foremost place. For a number of years it worked in security, its methods were ridiculed, and Christian bodies in general and regular standing kept at arms length clear of it. But the Army worked on quietly (with a good deal of drum quietness!) and with increasing efficiency. It perfected its organization, extended its activities from country to country, appealed more and more to generous givers. Then the war came. A few hundred workers went into the war some. So well have they performed the duty assigned them that the Salvation Army emerges out of the conflict with a reputation for useful service not excelled by any other welfare organization.

Many people find existence but a revolving cage, -eternal movement without eternal sameness. Not so the growing Christian. "Behold I make all things new" is daily and hourly gloriously fulfilled in the believer's ever expanding thought-world. One adventure after another, one discovery after another of increasing interest.

EAST SIDE COMMUNITY SERVICE
Pastor, O. B. Githens
Garford School Building

Man is a religious being no matter where he is found. Instinctively he has felt that he could come into a closer relationship with the great unseen power which he has continually evidenced about him. The results of his efforts to come into contact with that force are seen in the developed spiritual life of men and the church which constantly works for a closer relationship between man and God. "The Inevitableness of Religion" is the topic under consideration during the service period this Sunday, commencing at 3:30 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all to unite in these services.

The beginner, primary and junior departments meet at 3 p. m. for Sunday school work under the guidance of Mrs. Vida Githens and Mrs. Silver Day. All children of the community are requested to take up this work. There is a class to suit any child's needs and he will be profited by such work. The work is based on the modern graded courses.

Our pastor, Mr. Neighbour, will be in Chicago, preaching in the Moody church, and in this absence the preacher who is to fill the pulpit both morning and evening, will speak on the following subjects: At the morning service, "Simon, son of Jonas, loves thou Me more than these? Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou Me? Simon son of Jonas, lovest thou Me?"

At the evening service, "Behold the goodness and severity of God"

There will be baptizing Sunday evening.

The service on Sunday morning begins at the usual time, 10 o'clock. The sermon will be delivered in the German language. Sermon subject: "Hearers of The Word."

The Sunday School meets at 9:15.

The Church's business is to preach the gospel. So says the Head of the Church, our Lord and Master, who has put this Church into the world and to whom alone the church is responsible. What does He say? He says: "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be damned." The church accordingly is a soul-saving institution To save souls by the preaching of the Gospel of Jesus Christ is its business. That is its only business. That is its business everywhere and at all time. This business St. John's Church tries to attend to.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—A new camera for taking kinematograph pictures has been produced which does away with the handle at present used for winding the film, a special type of clockwork motor being used instead

A tripod stand need not be used, and the lightness and inconspicuousness of the camera will enable kinematograph operators to take pictures of a more intimate type than they can at present obtain.

The camera can be loaded in daylight, a sliding shutter allows of direct focusing, and the camera can in a moment be converted into a printing machine for making the positive films.

Birmingham Gas Well Fills With Rich Crude Oil

BIRMINGHAM Feb. 18. — A number of years ago Mr. Jacob Suter of our village drilled a well between five and six hundred feet deep for gas and got a fair supply of gas to use in his house but he abandoned the well because oil came in at the bottom and for a year or two the well has been capped.

When people came in here and began leasing lands for oil and gas, he had the curiosity to open up his well and much to his surprise he found the well filled with oil, there being about 3 barrels. He took a sample of the oil to the Standard Oil Company in Cleveland. There chemists pronounced it superior to any oil in this state and offered him twenty-five cents above the highest market price per barrel and offered to send out a tank car for him to fill but he did not have enough oil on hand to fill it.

Suter is now contemplating forming a stock company to develop his well as the people who drilled it only pricked the oil producing sand. If the expectations of the people of this vicinity materialize good many fortunes will be taken out of the ground which will be very acceptable under the present farming conditions.

FREE MILK FOR UNDERFED BABIES

Exchange Club Starts Move to Aid Invalids Whose Parents Are Out of Employment.

The Exchange Club at its meeting this noon decided to provide free milk to underfed and undernourished babies under one year of age, whose father is out of employment.

Each youngster will be supplied with one quart of the best and richest milk obtainable daily.

Twelve youngsters will be thus supplied starting tomorrow. More will be added from time to time. The list is obtained from the city health nurse who is in direct position to know those babies who are most in need of this worthy service.

The members of the Exchange club at the meeting contended that the first year of the youngster's life is the most important and that proper nourishment during this vital period is the first essential. The members hold that as the child thrives the first year depends entirely whether they will be robust and healthy or weaklings in later years.

The Exchange Club also decided to enter a booster team in the Inter-City bowling tournament to be held here February 20 to March 7 in which bowlers from eleven counties will compete.—Chronicle-Telegram, Feb. 14th.

A MIGHTY FINE MOVEMENT WHAT?

IN ADDITION TO THIS FINE EXAMPLE OF KINDNESS TO HUMANITY WE WOULD LIKE TO DIRECT YOUR ATTENTION TO THE FOLLOWING

This Is An Appeal to Parents

Dearer to you, perhaps, than your own health is that of your children.

The ideal parent watches carefully the development of his youngsters and seeks to provide them with foodstuffs that will build in them a strong and sturdy constitution.

MILK is Food and Drink combined. Periodical examinations of our dairies are a guarantee to you that they are 100 per cent healthy. Of course that means that every transmission bears the stamp of purity and cleanliness which makes the milk fit to drink. Every bottle is pasteurized with the end in view of eliminating all sediment and impure matter.

As a nutritive Milk is without an equal and you'll find that if your children get the daily habit you'll never have to worry about health insurance.

Very respectfully yours,

How Mother Graham Stripped the Mask from Elizabeth.

IF I had not suspected Elizabeth Harrison's secret discipline of her children, smashed by her presence of governing them without coercion, I would have had the conviction of the truth forced upon me when I saw Mary's terror-stricken eyes leap to her mother's face at her grandmother's admonition.

Mrs. Harrison's own face banished whatever doubt I might had had. At her mother's words, indicating that Mary was the one responsible for the taking of the Oriental necklace, my sister-in-law sat little Roderick down upon the ground and advanced a step toward the trembling Mary with a face that might have been cut out of marble, and a not little smile that made me shiver, so icily cruel did it appear to my excited imagination.

But her voice was as placid as always, when she spoke, and I gazed at her fascinated by the contrast between her honeyed accents and the cruel lines in her face.

"Mary," she said sweetly, "tell mother the truth. Did you take the necklace from my box?"

The child's eyes dilated with terror, and her voice was but a whisper as she answered:

"Yes, mother, I did, but I didn't hurt it and—"

"You've Fooled Everybody."

"That isn't the question, is it, dear?" her mother replied, then held out her hand. "Come with mother, dear. We'll take a walk and talk it over."

Mary's face was white, her eyes anguished, but she moved away from her grandmother toward her mother's outstretched hand, almost—I told myself fearfully—as a fascinated, terrified bird might have moved toward a serpent.

But my mother-in-law put out a quick, nervous hand, seized the child by the arm, spun her around toward the house, gave her a little push, and cried in a high, peremptory voice:

"Mary, go directly to my room and stay there until I come. I promise you that your mother shall not punish you at all for the necklace. Run, now!"

Mary needed no second admonition. Her thin legs sped over the ground like those of a fawn, and she did not even look behind her. Mrs. Harrison took one onward step toward her mother, but my brute mother-in-law gave her no opportunity to speak.

"You'll Not Take Mary."

"Don't you open your mouth to me, Elizabeth," she said, and I saw that she was in one of her worst "tantrums." "Why in the world I should have a child such as you've grown up to be, I don't know. Richard and Harriet have their faults, but you—you're a regular—I don't know what to call you. You've fooled everybody a long time with your moral suasion and your developing a free spirit and your 'no coercion allowed with my children,' but I've thought there was a darkey in the woodpile ever since you're been here this time, and now I know.

"Whatever you do to these children of yours to make them mind, it's something a good deal more severe than the punishments ordinary mothers hand out. It's whipping and pinching, I wouldn't be afraid to bet a cookie, but there's one thing certain, you're not going to punish Mary this trip, not while I have my right senses to prevent it."

"Of course, I leave your house with my family this afternoon," Elizabeth Harrison said, with white, still lips.

"Do just as you please about that," her mother retorted with equal indifference. "But you'll not take Mary with you, not until I've had a talk with William. I'm going to find out whether he knows and approves of your methods, and I'm going to telegraph him right now to come on here and see me."

I have seen Mother Graham peel the skin from a tomato for courting with less effectiveness than the accomplished the stripping of her daughter's mask of composure. It was a frightened, almost child-like outburst that moved forward swiftly to clutch her mother's arm.

"Mother, you mustn't do that—mustn't tell William anything. I'll do anything you want, but—"

Her mother smiled grimly.

"I thought so. William always was a fool. If he hadn't always been so blind and deaf about you, and had taken a hickory stick to you when he first married you, he'd have made something out of you. Well, at any rate, I've got some holy blackmail to hold over your head now, and don't you ever believe I won't use it if I ever hear of your doing anything to one of your children that will bring a look of terror such as Mary wore this afternoon!

"Margaret, what are you dawdling around here for? Junior must have wakened from his nap by this time, and goodness knows there's enough to do in the house with that ape of a Katie gone without everybody loafing the time away."

And having thus administered the high justice, the middle and the low, my doughty mother-in-law moved majestically to the house, while I mentally saluted her.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 18.—County and city officials today are probing the accident which resulted in the killing here of Forrest Guest, 13, of 966 Chelsea avenue and Byron Hughes also 13, of 934 Fifteenth avenue.

Rounding a corner at Summit street and Fifteenth avenue an auto, driven by Delbert Smith, 16, son of E. S. Smith, state superintendent of public works, 1345 Forsythe avenue, crashed into a bicycle on which the boys were riding.

The front wheels of the machine passed over the boys. Young Guest died almost instantly. The Hughes lad died while being taken to a hospital. Smith was taken to the county jail, but was released a few minutes later.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS FOOL HENS INTO TWO DAYS

MEDINA, Feb. 18. — The placing of electric lights in his hennery has resulted in tripling egg supply of Geo. Burr. He said he had 100 old and 30 young chickens during January the same as a year ago when he had no electric lights in his hennery. During January of this year he collected 3489 eggs compared with 1114 for the same period a year ago.

"Electric lights turned the trick," says Burr "I allow the chickens a sleeping period, then turn on the lights in the middle of the night and the hens think it is day time and then turn off the lights to permit a sleeping period before the long January nights are over. I make the hens think they are living two days when they are actually living but one, in this manner many of my hens are fooled to lay twice daily."

AUTO SHOW BRINGS OUT MANY NEW CAR FEATURES

It is hardly possible to pick up a newspaper these days without noting a reference to something new in the motor-car industry. Improvements in springs, bodies, carburetors, motors, and other important working parts of the car are seemingly everyday affairs.

One of the largest battery manufacturers the Willard Storage Battery Company, of Cleveland, reports that there is more general use than ever before of their Threaded Rubber Battery. This is a higher priced product than the other types of automobile batteries which it manufactures, but notwithstanding that fact, there are 917 buyers of motor cars and NORWALK, Feb. 18. — Fire broke out in the plant of the Norwalk Auto Parts Co. here Friday afternoon, burned it to the ground and spread to the green houses of the Norwalk Rose Garden Co., destroying three of the four units and the boiler plant. The loss to the automobile parts concern is estimated at $50,000 and that of the greenhouse firm at $5,000.

High winds and the freezing of adjacent water plugs added to the troubles of the fire fighters, who were forced to extend their hose 500 feet to the city plugs.

The Rose Garden Co. plant was said to have been the largest devoted to the growing of flowers between Cleveland and Toledo. The origin of the blaze is unknown.

2. How is the Department of Health composed?

Ans. Previous to the passing of the re-organization bill, known as "House Bill 249," in April, 1921, the Department of Health consisted of a Public Health Council appointed by the governor for terms of four years.

And a health commissioner chosen for five years by the Council of Public Health with the approval of the governor, and of various administrative bureaus and divisions.

4. What changes were made in this organization by the reorganization of the state government?

Ans. The governor by the provisions of this bill appoints a Director of the Department of Health just as he does for that of Finance or Public Works or Industrial Relations or any of the others. This appointment is for any term consistent with the governor's pleasure and is subject to the approval of the Senate. The governors term is for two years. The director then appoints the heads of division and other employes in his department.

5. Does the Director of the Department of Health also appoint the Public Health Council?

Ans. Yes, all employes of the various departments are appointed by the respective department heads.

6. Is the Director of the Department of Health, the same as the Commissioner of Health, who used to be chosen by the Public Health Council?

Ans. Yes. The Director of the Department of Health is the same as the old Health Commissioner and is chairman of the Public Health Council.

7. What are the qualifications for Health Commissioner?

Ans. The Commissioner of Health must, according to law be "a physician skilled in sanitary science."

It has the executive or administrative powers.

9. What executive duties has the Commissioner of Health?

10. Is the Director of the Department of Health or the Health Commissioner a high salaried man?

Ans. His salary is the same as that of the other Department Heads $6,500 annually.

11. Are the members of the Public Health council salaried employes of the department?

Ans. The reorganization bill provides that each department head may establish and appoint with approval of the governor and advisory board to aid in the conduct of his department or the divisions of the department. These boards, however, receive no compensation other than their actual and necessary expenses

VISUAL EDUCATION FOR ORPHAN CHILDREN OF YEOMEN HOME

JACKIE COOGAN

PICTURES ARE SUGAR-COATED LESSONS

DES MOINES, Ia - Jackie Coogan is more than an infant star of the cinema. He is to other children an invitation to a liberal education

The movies have been called the greatest educational force of modern times. Vivid pictures remain in the memory when printed lessons are forgotten. Educators recognize that the visualization of an idea is the most effective form of teaching Moving pictures are invading the class room. Their val- has been demonstrated in kindergarten instruction. The movement to install them in general school work has become nation-wide.

"Visual education," said Mark T McKee, an official of the Yeomen and a prominent corporation attorney of Detroit, "will be a part of the school system at the home for orphans and half-orphans to be established by the Brotherhood of American Yeomen It is the most enduring form of education for impressionable children of What the child sees in attractive pictures, he never forgets. Moving picture machines will be in every class room and will be an important factor in the scientific educational program of the home"

The home for fatherless and motherless children of the Yeomen, one of the great fraternal organizations of the nation, will be built, it is expected, this year. The children will live in family groups in cottages in charge of carefully selected educators Play, industry, school, health, morals, social direction religion and child welfare will all be brought into play to mould the children into the best ty of manhood and womanhood

Offers for sites for the home have been received by the Yeomen from practically every state in the union The location will be determined in the near future The home eventually will represent an outlay of $10,000,000

Shops are not able to get them fast enough by express and are going to the manufacturing centers to transport them in trunks. That is just a hint of how popular they are going to be, for the suit season is still a month or more away. This is an English tweed with a somewhat unique cut of coat.

MOTORS AND THEIR CARE

Practical Suggestions for Insuring Longevity of the Car.

An Indicator for Backing

A small notch cut on the under side of the steering wheel rim in a position nearest the driver will greatly aid when backing the car in a straight and narrow direction. Before making the notch simply set the wheels in a straight position. When backing, if the mark be to one side or to the other it naturally shows that the wheels are not straight.

A Test for Wheel Alignment

To test the wheel alignment of the front wheels both wheels an equal distance from the ground and spin them. While they are revolving draw a line on the centre of the tread of the tires with a piece of chalk. Measure the distance from the line on one tire at the height of the hub in front and behind the front axle.

Practical Suggestions

Never drive on a retarded spark.

Shellac will stop small leaks in radiators.

Do not wait until a squeak is heard before oiling.

A tool in the car is worth thousands in the garage.

Use distilled and not boiled water in the battery.

A wise motorist carries his license with him at all times.

Scarcely one man in 20 remembers the number of his motor.

Cover the spare tire and protect it from rain, sun and dirt.

A motorist should be as clever in backing a car as he is when driving forward.

Two-thirds of all breakdowns are caused by improper or insufficient lubrication.

A slipping clutch is not only a strain on the engine but causes waste of power and fuel.

Making the Car Attractive

Boiled linseed oil is good for removing spots from varnish and for polishing the body of a car.

Pretty Colors Not Serviceable

Pastel colors and shades of automobile bodies will not stand the sun and bad weather so well as the deeper tones.

Importance of Safe Driving

A car where direction cannot be controlled is dangerous. Make frequent inspections of the steering mechanism.

The Engine's Braking Power

Using the engine as a brake on steep downgrades of mountains insures safety, saves the brakes and cools the engine.

Trouble Lights

Several of the 1922 models of passenger automobiles have a light placed under the hood for inspecting the engine on a dark night.

When Passing the Car Ahead

The blowing of a horn by an automobile overtaking another car is a signal for the car ahead to pull over to the right to allow the car in the rear to pass on the left. Cars should not attempt to pass at an intersection, sharp turn or crest of when approaching the crest of a hill.

MOTORS AND THEIR CARE
Why Oil is Used

The lubricating of the working parts of an automobile is to prevent any two pieces of metal that are working one against the other from touching. This is accomplished by having a film of oil between these two metals and upon this film of oil depends the life of all the bearings, cylinders, pistons, rings, etc.

Working for Improvements

According to automobile engineers there are a hundred fundamental things about the modern car which are all wrong. The present form of transmitting the power from the engine to the driving wheels is a waste. The operator should not be compelled to shift gears. The ignition is far from perfect, the fuel consumption is double what it should be, and there is too much vibration and lost motion.

In Pennsylvania a passenger automobile used as a truck regularly to carry supplies is classed as a commercial vehicle.

Would it be a cheap battery that the manufacturers wouldn't stand back of?

Or a high-priced battery that made no attempt at economy?

Or a sound, well built battery that sells at a fair price and that gives the most miles of uninterrupted service per dollar, as does the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery?

Experience has proved our wisdom in choosing the Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation.

Come in—and we'll tell you how it will save money for you.

Excepting from the above described premises two parcels of land deeded to the Trustees of Carlisle Township, by deeds dated October 30, 1840, and March 16, 1878, and recorded in Volume N, page 186 and Volume 43, page 437 Lorain County Records of Deeds.

The prayer of the Petition is that all of the defendants be compelled to set up what interest if any in the title to or lien upon said premises, they or any of them have, that any such claim be adjudged null and void and the title of the plaintiff quieted as against each and everyone of the defendants and against all persons claiming by, thru or under them or any of them and that they and each of them be forever barred from claiming any title to, interest or lien upon said premises or any portion thereof and for such other relief as is proper and the Court can give.

COLSONS NOW HEAD INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE

The Colson Co. slid into first place in the Industrial League last night when they defeated the Willys-Overland taking two out of three games. The leadership in this league has changed three times in a week, showing the closeness of the race. The Willys-Overland were in first place Monday and were put down by the Western Automatic. Then the Automatics lost to the I. T. S. and the Willys-Overland stepped up. Now the Colson replaces the Willys-Overland.

Sporting Notes

Of the 21 rookies with the Toledo Mud Hens only two have reached the ripe old age of 22 years.

The 1922 schedule of the Southern League was drafted by President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

J. Walter Morris, the new boss of the Dallas Texas league team, was formerly president of the Texas circuit.

Jimmy Brown the English bantamweight, who looks to be a comer, was taught the ins and outs of the boxing game by Ted Lewis.

"Tacks" Hardwick the old Harvard football and baseball star, he is going to take up tennis next summer.

Despite his front name Fay Kaiser, the Maryland middleweight, is a two fisted fighter and packs a wicked wallop.

From the showing of Johnny Griffiths in his recent bouts it would appear that the Akron veteran is about through with the boxing game.

ELYRIA HIGH WINS FIRST LEAGUE G...

GUTHMAN AND CROWE STAR AS E... CAGERS NOSE OUT FREMONT 23 TO ... —GOOD TEAM-WORK BY BOTH TEAMS—FREMONT NEARLY OVE... COMES LEAD IN FINAL PERIOD

By CLIFF. C. HENNINGS

In the most spectacular and most exciting game witnessed on a local floor this year, the Elyria cage tossers nosed out the strong Fremont five by a 23-22 score on the local Y. M. C. A. floor last night. Elyria showed the best passing and teamwork of the season. For the first time this year the local crew showed real offensive attack as they brought the ball down the floor time after time for short shots while Fremont was forced to shoot from mid-floor.

Good Teamwork

The game last night proved to be the most exciting affair this year and spectators were up on their toes nearly the whole game. The team work of the locals was almost flawless; they passed and guarded brilliantly. Both teams used the five-man defense but Elyria easily demonstrated their superiority in that department of play as Fremont's forwards found it almost impossible to pierce Elyria's defense for a close shot. The locals were far off color in one respect and that was foul shooting. Out of ten chances to score by the foul path they connected only once when Halpin found the loop. Elyria went into the lead in the second quarter and were not overtaken all through the rest of the game, although the Fremont crew came within one point of a tie at several stages of the game.

Fine Individual Play

Every man on the Elyria team played fine basketball and deserves much credit for the way he figured in the team play and passing as well as the guarding. Guthman and Crowe, however, deserve extra mention. Guthman was easily the offense star of the game; caging eight field goals for a total of sixteen points; two thirds of the points scored by the local team. Crowe who played right guard for Elyria played the game of his life. He broke up play after play besides holding his opposing forward to one lone field goal. Captain "Windy" Wendler and Hughes played best for the visitors. Wendler opposed Captain Koppes of the locals and they both put up a real fight. Each held the other to only two field goals, but Wendler was locating the loop from the foul parallel while "Deke" was off color in that respect. Game by quarters:

First Quarter

Both teams started playing basketball from the first whistle, although the start was not of a speedy variety it was a real fight. The teams were evenly matched and spectators knew in the first quarter that the score would be close and the game hotly contested. Captain Wendler of Fremont, scored the first point of the game from the foul line. Shortly after Guthman came through with the first field goal of the game and from that time on the Elyria stands went wild; and at times it seemed they would raise the roof with their yells. The spectators showed good sportsmanship—cheering the good plays of the visitors as well as those of the locals. Captain Wendler made two more points from the foul line as the quarter ended. Score, Elyria 2, Fremont 3.

Second Quarter

Speed was the watchword of both teams in the second period. Not a foul was called on either crew in this quarter which made it a battle of field goals. 'Howdy' Halpin and 'Baldy" Guthman each made one for the locals then 'Windy' Wendler of the visitors made the first field goal for Fremont. Guthman, Halpin and 'Deke" Koppes each came through with another. Then Miller gave Fremont two more points as the first half ended. Score, Elyria 12, Fremont 7.

Third Quarter

Brokate scored first for Fremont in the third period but Koppes followed with one for Elyria. Miller came back with another pair of points for Fremont only to have Guthman and Halpin drop in one each. Fremont called time out in order to stop the local offense attack but were unsuccessful. Miller gave Fremont three more points by a goal and a free throw. Then Guthman and Hughes each made a field goal. Brokate was forced to leave the floor when the fourth personal was called on him and Leese took his place at left forward. Score, Elyria 19, Fremont 12.

Fourth Quarter

The final period was by far the best of the game as both teams were giving everything they had and it was anybody's game after the first five minutes of play. Fremont tried to overcome the lead and it began to look as if they would be successful as Hughes caged two field goals and Miller produced one more and then followed with two free throws. 'Baldy' Guthman then brought the Elyria fans to their feet when he caged two more field goals for Elyria in quick order. Wendler followed with two more points for Fremont placing his team one point behind Elyria. Fremont started another offensive attack which was broken up by Crowe as the game ended. Final score, Elyria 23, Fremont 22.
